

Camp Sagemont's CIT (Counselor in Training) Program is designed to offer qualified young people an opportunity to prepare for positions as camp counselors or recreation leaders.

The CIT program is about more than just producing well-trained counselors; it is about helping these young adults build skills that will help them be successful as they enter college and beyond. Emphasis is placed upon developing leadership skills, sensitivity to children, and program skills.

Each week, our young professionals participate in hands-on training that help them utilize and implement skills while in the camp cabins.

Topics that will be discussed include:

- * leadership styles
- * classroom management
- * ethics and values
